Yolo County, California, with a population of just over 215,000, is a naturally beautiful and richly diverse county. It is one of the leading agricultural producers in the nation.

While agriculture is Yolo County’s primary industry, nearly 85% of the County’s population lives in the four cities of Davis, West Sacramento, Woodland, and Winters. It is an increasingly diverse county with 23% of the population born outside the United States. One in five K-12 students is an English language learner.

Yolo County is one of California’s original counties and operates under General Law. The County is governed by an elected Board of Supervisors consisting of five members. The County is organized into functional areas, such as: General Government, which includes the Library and the County Archives and Records Center; Law and Justice Services; Health and Human Services; Planning, Resources and Public Works and Agriculture.

The Yolo County Library provides public library services to the entire County, except for the City of Woodland, with branch locations in Clarksburg, Davis, Esparto, Knights Landing, West Sacramento, Winters and Yolo. Library Administration, Technical Services and operations are located in Woodland.

Public library services include collection management, circulation, interlibrary loans, virtual branch and database services, computer and software applications, meeting and study rooms, diverse programs for all ages, homework and research assistance, literacy programming, reference and information services, family and children resources, Archives and Records Center services and more.

Yolo County Library is committed to employing a diverse and inclusive workforce that reflects the population it serves. Library employees are service oriented, knowledgeable, and passionate about reading, literacy and public service.

The Yolo County Library Advisory Board has proclaimed: “No matter where you come from, everyone is welcome at Yolo County Library.” Yolo County Library is committed to supporting diversity, equity, and inclusion and embraces all spoken and signed languages, all races and ethnicities, all religions and creeds, all gender identities, all countries of origin, all sexual orientations, all immigrants and refugees, and all abilities and disabilities.

The Library is committed to an environment where differences are valued and all staff are part of a productive, high performing team delivering quality services to all people. To learn more about the Yolo County Library visit: www.yolocountylibrary.org.
