Let's Start Something Green and Sustainable!

Waste Management, North State Building Industry Association, Yolo County and the City of West Sacramento to Host Free Environmental Seminar Series

West Sacramento, CA – February 9, 2009 -- Waste Management, North State Building Industry Association, Yolo County and the City of West Sacramento announced today the launch of a three-part Environmental Seminar Series called “Let’s Start Something Green and Sustainable.” The free Seminar Series is open to all residents and businesses within the greater Sacramento area, and will focus on three main environmental concerns: transportation, construction, and overall sustainability.

The first Seminar will be held on Wednesday, March 4, 2009 and focus on Transportation and Fleet Regulations, and is designed to provide local businesses with information regarding air regulations that affect operations with small fleets that run both off-road and on-road diesel vehicles. Seminar speakers will educate local businesses on how to meet California Air Resources Board (CARB) regulations and describe monetary resources available to fund those efforts. Speakers will also share the actions they have taken to meet CARB regulations, and present best practices and helpful hints from which to draw when putting together a company’s transportation and fleet regulation compliance plan.

The speakers scheduled for the first Seminar include:

- Christopher Cabaldon, Mayor, City of West Sacramento
- Cory Parmer, CARB
- Matthew Schrap, California Trucking Association
- Matt Jones, Yolo-Solano County Air Quality Management District

The “Let’s Start Something Green and Sustainable” Seminar Series is free to all residents and businesses of the greater Sacramento area. For more information, or to RSVP for one or all of the upcoming Seminars, please contact us at (916) 617-4590 or visit www.westsacrecycles.org.
